U. S. C. DEBATERS TRAVEL NORTH TO ENGAGE LOCAL TEAM

Trojan Veterans to Meet Local Sophomores On Monday

Trojan versus Gael is the debaters' menu for next Monday evening.

The visitors from the Southland are Ames Crawford, captain of the Southern California debate team, and Lawrench Pritchard. Both men were winners of the Ames Cup debate contest as freshmen, and both merited Bowan extempore cups.

John Kiernan, David Taylor, and Kelly Dowd, who is to present the rebuttal, form the Saint Mary's team which will oppose the invaders from Los Angeles.

"Resolved: That the United States should agree to the cancellation of the inter-allied war debts" is the proposition to be debated by the rival squads. Saint Mary's has the task of advancing the affirmative arguments of the case.

A decision will not be given.

This meeting will mark the second debate held with representatives from the southern part of the state during this semester, Loyola University having been encountered in February.

However, it is the first time that a Saint Mary's forensic group has engaged members of the Trojan forensic society.

Meet Newman Tuesday

On Tuesday evening Noel Sherry and Henry Floyd are to clash with the Newman Club at the University of California.

They will defend the wage cutting policy brought about by the present depression, showing that it is not only imperative due to conditions, but also that it will work for the best interests of capital and labor.

The question reads: "Resolved: That the cutting of wages in the present depression has retarded the process of economic recovery."

Parliament, a woman's forensic association at the Berkeley university, postponed a discussion on war debts scheduled for last Tuesday evening until April 18. A conflict in their debate arrangements made the move necessary.

John Tolan and John Somers of the campus debate society will be opposed by Vivienne McGovern and Dorothy Goldeen on that date in a decision clash.

Graduate Relates Journalistic Life

An unusually interesting discussion on journalism and newspaper writing featured the tenth episode in the 1933 senior transition series last Friday, when Mr. Daniel Doran '12 related to the prospective graduates the important events in his career in the journalistic world.

Doran, who sometime back dropped active work in this field to enter the travel business, opened his talk with a detailed summary of newspaper background in Europe and traced the high points of its progress to the present time. He carefully disclosed the incidents and manner of writing that a person in this particular division of journalism proceeds.

On numerous occasions Doran was detailed to the East and Middle West to cover some of the nation's greatest fistic battles and his experiences in beating his fellow-reporters to the press with a concise and interesting report of the encounters were enjoyed by the upper division students.

Dan Doran has always taken an active part in Catholic publications and was formerly an official in the National Catholic Welfare Council at Washington, D. C.

All members of the Press Club will attend a meeting to be held today at 12:20 p.m. in room G110.

Trojan Debater

CONCLUDING PLANS MADE BY PRESSMEN

Feature Writers Will Be Guest Speakers at Session

All plans for the annual press convention, to be held at Saint Mary's on Saturday, April 22, are completed. Invitations have been sent to the leading Catholic high school papers of Northern California.

A special committee of the Press Club has submitted the final preparations, which will include the following:

10:00 a.m.—Registration of all guests at De la Salle Lounge.

10:30 a.m.—General talk by the editor of the Monitor or of the Leader.

11:00 a.m.—Round table conferences for the following: Girls: Edith Bristol of the San Francisco Call Bulletin, in De la Salle Lounge; Boys: Bill Leiser, sports editor of the San Francisco Examiner, in Galileo Hall.

12:30 p.m.—Luncheon.

1:15 p.m.—Girls' discussion in Dante Hall.
Boys discussion in Galileo Hall.

2:30 p.m.—Dance in the Lounge, and presentation of trophies.

4:30 p.m.—Departure.

Significance of Holy Year Told By Student Chaplain

"On Christmas Eve Pope Pius XI announced a Holy Year, to commemorate the nineteenth century of the Crucifixion. He said that our days need emphatically such a celebration because we are in the midst of great tribulation and paganism is everywhere rampant in social and civic life. He forsees that such an observance as a Holy Year will bring us back to a fuller realization of Christian duties and teach us to depend on the teachings of Christ as exponded by the Church," said Father Benjamin Bowling, C.S.P., when questioned regarding the present Holy Year.

The celebration was officially begun last Saturday by the Pope when he opened the "Holy Door" of St. Peter's in Rome. Following the ceremony, the voice of the Holy Father was heard as he spoke from Rome over a world wide radio hookup.

All anniversaries fade into insignificance with the celebration this year of the nineteen-hundredth anniversary of the Crucifixion of Our Lord. As the Holy Father pointed out, the exact date of Our Lord's death is not known, but the best authorities believe that the year of the Crucifixion was 33 A. D. Hence the anniversary is set for 1933.

"The earliest Holy Year," added Father Bowling, "of which we have record dates from February 1300, when Pope Boniface VIII established it by the Bull 'Antiquorum Fida Relatio.' Originally it was ordained that the Holy Year be celebrated once every hundred years, but the interval has been changed by subsequent Popes until now the custom is to have one every twenty-five years.

History of Holy Year

"From 1800 to 1900 no Holy Year was celebrated due to the political disturbances of the French Revolution, the exile of Pius IX at Gaeta and the loss of the Papal States by the Pope," continued Father Bowling.

In 1900, however, the celebration was revived by Leo XIII and has been continued by our present Pontiff who proclaimed the last Holy Year in 1925.

Opening of Holy Door

In order for pilgrims to obtain the indulgence granted by the Holy Father, they must visit certain specified churches in Rome. Accordingly, the ceremony of opening the Holy Door in each of these churches is one of the distinctive features of the Holy Year.

Sacred Heart Is Victor in Debate

Local Frosh Team Loses On Delivery

By one per cent the local freshmen debate team lost to the Sacred Heart team in de la Salle lounge last night defending the negative side of the topic, "Resolved: That Hitler's regime is a menace to world peace."

The Sacred Heart team, champions of San Francisco, was composed of Joseph L. Alioto, Joseph Schoenstein and William Osterloh. Arthur Mott, Joseph Leonard and Denis Cromarty were the frosh men.

So close was the decision, 85 to 86 points, the judges, Mr. Don Price and Mr. John Garaventa of Concord, stated that the victory for the Sacred Heart delegation rested entirely upon delivery.

The basis of the victor's arguments regarded Hitler's attitude toward the Versailles treaty, which, if carried out, would endanger world peace.

Holy Year Opening Is Celebrated Here

Blessed Sacrament Was Exposed All Day

In keeping with the expressed wish of the Holy Father, who asked that a holy hour be held in every Catholic church of the world, devotions were held last night at 7 o'clock in the College chapel.

Following the 6:30 Mass yesterday morning, the Blessed Sacrament was exposed on the altar throughout the day, concluding with the services in the evening. Students who signed for half-hour periods kept up a constant presence all day in adoration of Our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament.

A special group of students comprised the guard of honor all during the day, taking their places on the central altar.

This morning, the student body Mass for the First Friday was celebrated by Father Bowling, student chaplain. The better part of the large group attending received Communion. Breakfast for all was served in the College dining hall afterward.

Three Presidential Candidates State Qualifications and Outline Platforms

Listed below are the platforms and qualifications of the candidates for next year's student body officers. All of the three presidential candidates are now juniors in full standing as required by the constitution. Where the platform is that of a ticket, it is indicated by a list of the ticket following the platform itself.

JACK G. METZ—Candidate for president.

Born—St. Louis, Mo.
Age—20 years.
Home town—Flagstaff, Ariz.
High school——St. Michael's College, Santa Fe, N. M.
College activities—Knights of Columbus (charter member St. Mary's Council); Press Club; Alpha Pi Gamma Upsilon; Collegian news reporter; St. Mary's News Service (present director); Editor of the 1933 Gael; Varsity committee (two years).

"Deeds—Not Words"

We promise—

1. To uphold the standards set by the previous administration.
2. To impress upon the student affairs committee their responsibility for stimulating action; it should be composed of members who will "snap the whip" over student organizations.
3. To make all committee appointments conditional upon activity.
4. To have a direct report of executive council proceedings to the student body by the vice-president.

Alpha Rho Omega.
Cottle Oratorical contestant '32.
Gael Staff '33.
Dramatics '32.

To the Students of Saint Mary's:

It must be realized that in the past, due to the various difficulties which arose when Saint Mary's moved from Broadway to Moraga, student administration had received a serious setback. The past administrations have, however, laid a foundation which, if builded upon correctly, will enable Saint Mary's College to rise to the same plane of student government which is prevalent in the best colleges and universities in the United States. We know that the student body is highly desirous of such an

Nominees for Office Must Be Card Holders

"All candidates running for student body offices, nominators, and also those who second the motions must be student body ticket holders." This is a strict order issued by the executive council committee at a meeting held last Wednesday in Dante Hall.

The student affairs committee has received final notice that Mr. William Corbus, president of the Stanford University student body, will be able to deliver an address to the A.S.S.M.C. on nomination day, Thursday, April 6.

It was also proposed at this meeting that Bannister be automatically elected yell leader, since John Mallarino is disqualified, according to the A.S.S.M.C. constitution. According to qualifications, only juniors are permitted to hold student body offices, and unfortunately Mallarino is a sophomore.

SENIOR BALL BIDS GO ON SALE MONDAY

Committee Announces Corsages Will Be Banned

Colonial ballroom of the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco—

The sparkle and romance of the Senior Ball, the climax of the College social season—

Leo Walcom

Possibly Lee Seawright and his musicians, who are rapidly approaching the top in collegiate orchestrations—

Favors that will elicit delighted adjectives—

Stick around, boys; that's just the beginning.

President John Murphy of the senior class gathered his committeemen in a meeting yesterday and completed all details for the Senior Ball which is slated for the St. Francis on Saturday night, April 29.

For the sum of $2.50 the Saint Mary's man will be king of the ball three weeks from tomorrow. No factor, however small, is being overlooked by the committeemen to wind up the College year in fitting fashion.

Names Committee

Leo Walcom has been named chairman of the ball committee and will work with Bernard Squires, John Tobin, William Cagney, Frank Passalacqua, Melvin Scheflin and Jack Moylan.

In line with the current convention at collegiate dances, corsages will be barred, President Murphy announced yesterday. "Leave corsages in a vase at home," said Murphy, "otherwise they will be removed at the door."

Bids will arrive on the campus today and will go on sale Monday through the usual agencies and committeemen.

Patrons and Patronesses will be announced during the week and will include members of the faculty and friends of the institution.

Orators Slow to Sign Up for Cottle Contest

Although as yet no definite date has been decided upon for the Cottle Oratorical Contest, Brother Agnon, moderator of the contest, announced that it will take place within the month, depending upon the signup.

The medal for the contest was donated by the late Reverend Father Cottle of the class of '77 and has been awarded every year since the opening one of 1903 except that of the earthquake and fire. Last year it was taken by J. J. Healy of the class of '32, who was victorious over almost a dozen competitors.

CANDIDATES PLACED IN NOMINATION FOR ELECTION TUESDAY

Three - Cornered Struggle Rises for Coming Presidency

Three candidates were nominated yesterday at the regular student body meeting to run for the office of president of the associated students.

Jack Metz, nominated by John Somers; Jack O'Mara, placed in nomination by Virgil Goldman, and Jack McCabe, put up by Tom Cara, were the men named to be placed on the ballot for the election to be held on Tuesday, April 11.

Other Nominees

For the office of vice-president, two men were nominated: Henry McElroy, placed by Joe Byrd, and Robert Hunt, placed by Jack Moylan. Frank Latuda, nominated by Robert Franke for the office of treasurer, met with no opposition and automatically wins that post. Striving for the secretarial chair will be Fred Canrinus, placed in nomination by Francis Passalacqua, and Martin Moran, who was put up by Noel Sherry.

By a vote of the students present, it was resolved that since neither of last year's yell leaders was a senior in full standing as required by the constitution, both of them, Jack Bannister and John Mallarino, would be placed on the ballot. For the position of intramural sports manager two men were named: Leo Gambetta and Matthew LaBrucherie.

Corbus Fails to Appear

The failure of Bill Corbus, president of the Associated Students of Stanford University, to appear, because of a bronchial ailment, caused a considerable stir among the audience that had gathered to hear him. President Tolan expressed the hope that he would come to speak before the semester ends.

Treasurer Reports

Treasurer Cara read a report of the year's expenditures. After the nominations were closed, Tolan announced that on Monday at 12:20 there would be a mass meeting of the students to hear the speeches of the candidates for the various offices at Senior Bench.

Holders of Cards Vote

The student affairs committee will take charge of the election to check up on the student body card holders, and will prevent those from voting who have not the cards. It was explained that the names of the candidates would be alternated on the various ballots so that no one of them would have the advantage of place on the ballot.

Camps Ready for K. C. Luminaries

State Officers to Be Present

The following state officers of the Knights of Columbus will be honored guests on the local campus May 14, 15 and 16: Reverend James B. Dermody, state chaplain; John T. Donohue, state deputy; John F. Holland, state secretary; Gus H. Homer, state treasurer; Edwin C. Boehler, state advocate; George C. Cunningham, state warden, and Benno M. Brink, past state deputy.

The Reverend James B. Dermody will officiate at the Memorial Mass, Tuesday, May 16, at 8 a.m.

Knights of Columbus Committees

Other notables to be honored are the chairme nof the various committees: Joseph O'Connor, press committee; Walter J. Sullivan, finance committee; Al J. Ward, historian; R. H. Murphy, custodian; John H. Owen, employment and relief committee; William R. Lowery, Catholic activities committee; Al J. Ward, lecturer's bureau; Frank A. Sullivan, parochial school committee; Clifford A. Russell, legislative committee; J. Leslie Darnell, committee on boy welfare; Chris D. McKeon, athletic committee; Robert H. Schaefer, state educational

ALUMNI NOTES

Monday, April 10—Monthly meeting of the alumni directors at the Hotel Cecil, San Francisco, 6:30 p.m.

Wednesday, May 3—Annual meeting and dinner of the alumni at the Hotel Bellevue, San Francisco.

MANY ALUMNI KNIGHTS TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Many alumni and former students of the College will attend the annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus, to be held at the College on May 14, 15 and 16; this will be especially true of the alumni who hold offices in the state and local organizations.

George Cunningham '22 of Los Angeles will attend the convention in his post as State Warden. Among the state committeemen who are alumni, and who are expected to attend are: B. Andrew Lagomarsini '23, Grand Knights of Sacramento Council and a member of the employment and relief committee of the state organization; William R. Lowery '11, of San Francisco, chairman of the Catholic activities committee of the state; Clifford Russell '11 of Sacramento, chairman of the legislation commtitee; Albert Westlake '25, Sacramento, member of the committee on boy welfare of the state; Thomas Trodden '04, San Francisco, also a member of the boy welfare committee; Sylvester Andriano '11, San Francisco, chairman of the retreat committee, North; Robert Doud '20 of Oxnard, member of the retreat committee, South, and Joseph O'Connor '16, member of the finance committee of the state organization.

Henry Gianella '07 of Chico, district deputy of district 3, and Joseph T. Fitzgerald '05 of Visalia, district deputy of district 15, are also scheduled to attend.

Grand Knights who are St. Mary's alumni and who are therefore delegates to the convention are: B. Andrew Lagomarsino '23, Sacramento; Charles L. McInnis '15, Vallejo, and Assemblyman Clifford C. Anglim '28, Grand Knight of Contra Sosta Council of Richmond.

It is hoped that as many members of the alumni as possible who are members of the Knights of Columbus will attend the convention at Saint Mary's, thus aiding Saint Mary's College in its effort as host to the state organization.

ALUMNI DINNER SET FOR BELLEVUE HOTEL

The annual dinner of the Alumni Association will be held at the Hotel Bellevue, San Francisco, on May 3. This is the first time that the alumni have held any important event at the Bellevue, which is located on the corner of Geary and Taylor streets.

For members of the alumni who sponsor seniors the price will be $1 per plate, while for others it will be $1.25 per plate. Alumni are asked to make reservations for the dinner at the alumni office on the campus. Phone Moraga 411.

ALUMNI DIRECTORS TO MEET MONDAY

With President Frederick T. West '14 in the chair, the monthly meeting of the alumni directors will be held Monday, April 10 at 6:30 p.m. at the Hotel Cecil, San Francisco. The principal report to be received at the meeting will be the report of the finance committee composed of Louis McGettigan '01, George Poultney '05 and James Roberts '25. All members of the board are urged to attend the meeting.

ALUMNI RETREAT HELD

The annual retreat of the Alumni Association was held at the Jesuit retreat house, El Retiro, Los Altos, last weekend. The retreat opened on Thursday evening and concluded on Monday morning.

Rev. Edward Whelan, S.J., former president of the University of San Francisco, was in charge of the retreat. Leo A. Cunningham '18 of San Francisco was chairman of the alumni committee which arranged for the event.

WILLIAM "WEE' LUDOLPH

William "Wee" Ludolph '24, star picther for the Oakland baseball club, won the opening game of the Coast League on last Tuesday, when he pitched his team to a 3 to 1 victory over the Missions.

Brother Leo to Give Brilliant Recitals

In keeping with his contention that poetry is written to be recited aloud, Brother Leo will give an interpretation of leading poets in two literary recitals for the benefit of the Christian Brother's Novitiate at Napa.

The first appearance will be in San Francisco at the War Memorial Opera House, Wednesday evening, April 26.

The second recital is to be at the Municipal Auditorium Theater, in Oakland, Friday evening, May 12.

The results of Brother Leo's year of research at the Catholic University in Washington, D. C., are delightfully reflected in his lecture work. A year's sojourn in Europe on sabbatical leave in 1925 greatly enriched Brother Leo's imaginative power and has contributed immeasurably to his ability of painting sweeping, vivid pictures with words. It is in a literary recital that his attainments in this regard may be properly appreciated and realized.

The divisions of the poetry in the San Francisco appearance include selections of "In the Days Gone By," "A Sheaf of Irish Poetry," and "Some Poems of San Francisco."

The units of the Oakland Recital will give examples of "The Open Road," "The Magic of Words," "Echoes from Shakespeare," and "The Lighter Side."

Depression Over; Econ Ass'n Buys Insignia

Members of the Economics Society completed arrangements Wednesday with a San Francisco jewelry firm for the manufacturing of club insignias. They will be made up from an original design in the form of keys.

The Economics Society is the second campus organization to decide on having a club insignia. A.P.G.U. members are already sporting their new pins.

New President

Shirley Matthias, economics and finance junior, was elected president of the society last week by a narrow margin over Henry McElroy. He succeeds Kilian Mulleda, who expressed his thanks to the members for the support he received during his term of office. During Mulleda's administration the society enjoyed a year marked by many activities. The highlight of the year was the recent campus talk by Dr. Flugel of the University of California.

New Plans

Arrangements have already been completed for a talk to be delivered to the members of the society by a representative of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce on May 3.

An attempt is also being made to have another speaker, as yet unannounced, before the end of this month.

Local Campus K. of C. Council Singular as Only One in West

Founded as an outgrowth of a campus K. of C. club, consisting of students belonging to various state and out of state councils the Saint Mary's College Council of the Knights of Columbus is the only K. of C. of its kind west of Chicago.

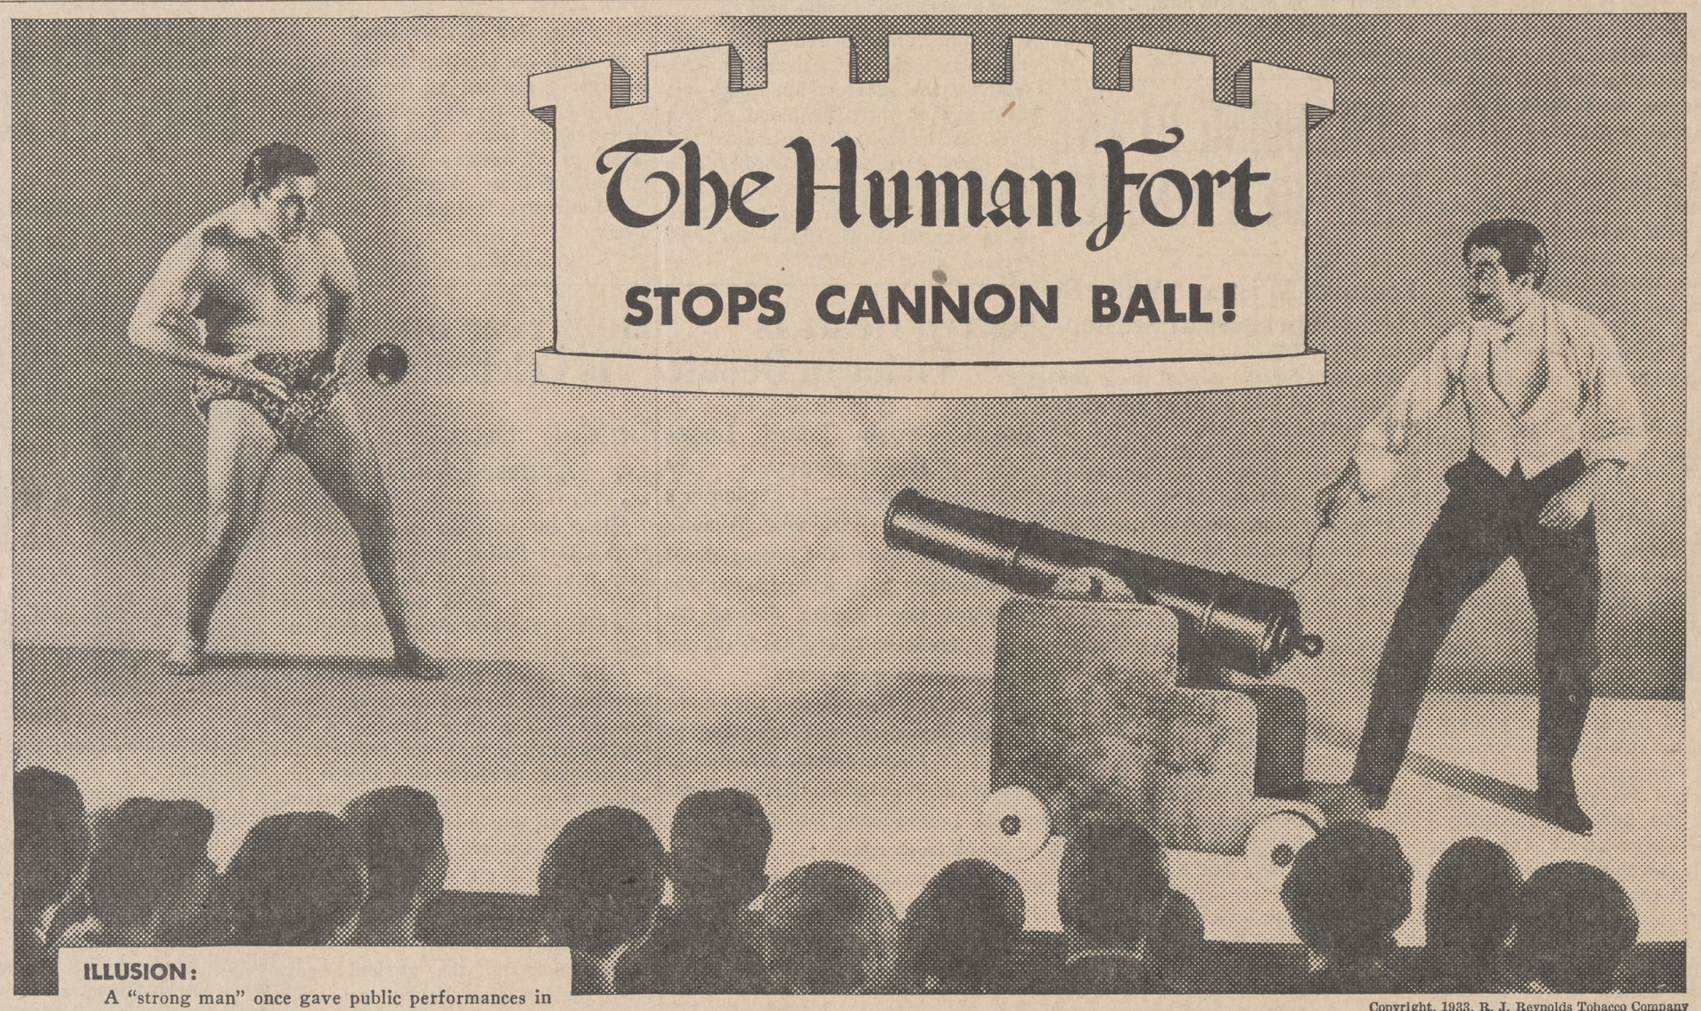
Realizing the mutual advantages to the College and the members, a committee of local Knights, composed of Thomas Joyce, William Clark, John Henderson and Timothy J. Canty with the aid of Brother Z. Leo, laid the foundations for the formation of a campus council of knights. The council was formally instituted by State Deputy Harry McGowan on the evening of April 1, 1931.

The purpose of the local K. of C. unit is to initiate the members into council work preparing them to assume leadership in the council in their own community upon graduation. Not only does the idea of a college council insure better leadership for the Knights of Columbus but it provides a means whereby the Knight-graduate becomes affiliated with a Catholic organization immediately upon graduation.

Each year the local council sponsors a football rally before one of the major football games entertaining the members of other bay region councils as guests. The council has sponsored lectures by Leslie Darnell, Boy Welfare worker and Brother Bede Edward, authority on the Columbian Squires. At present the council is engaged in devoloping a collection of books on California history to be presented to the library.

Under the leadership of Grand Knight Robert Franke the Knights are engaged at present in preparing for their greatest undertaking, the State Convention of the Knights of Columbus to be held on the campus May 14, 15, 16. That such a newly organized council should secure the State Convention reflects a great amount of credit on the work of the local knights.

Grand Knight Franke and Mr. Canty are preparing the most comprehensive program ever attempted at a state convention. In bringing the knights from all parts of the state to the campus the local club is planning to give the proceedings of the meeting a definite "collegiate" tone.



ILLUSION: A "strong man" once gave public performances in which he stopped a 9 lb. cannon ball shot from a fully charged cannon. The audience gasped when the gun flashed and the human Gibraltar stepped forward out of the smoke uninjured, with the 9 lb. shot in his hands.

EXPLANATION: The trick lay in the way an assistant prepared the cannon for the performance. He used the regulation amount of powder and wadding, but placed the greater part of the charge of powder ahead of the shot. The cannon ball was propelled only by the small charge behind it which was just sufficient to lob the 9 lb. ball over to the strong man.

It's fun to be fooled— ...it's more fun to KNOW

A performance sometimes staged in cigarette advertising is the illusion that cigarettes are made easy on the throat by some special process of manufacture.

EXPLANATION: All cigarettes are made in almost exactly the same way. Manufacturing methods are standard and used by all. A cigarette is only as good as the tobaccos it contains.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

In costly tobaccos you will find mildness, good taste, throat-ease.

Smoke Camels critically, and give your taste a chance to appreciate the greater pleasure and satisfaction offered by the more expensive tobaccos. Other cigarettes, we believe, will taste flat and insipid to you forever after.

Gael Gossip

By HAVELOCK HUNTER

The biggest story of the week: The team ate dinner in a fire-proof and protected restaurant on Spring Street, and Mel Bareilles, midget that he is, was overawed by the palatial surroundings. He was engaged in gazing at the ceiling when his eye fell on the sprinkling system overhead. His mouth dropped a foot and he turned to Charlie Jones sitting next to him and said, "How do they light those gas jets; with a long pole?" Just a little man in the South.

A notice in the athletic office brings hope to many a Saint Mary's track fan. It states that track would be a major sport at this institution if enough support were given the coming intramural field events.

This cheerful news ought to make every track boaster sit up and take notice. Here is a chance that many have been waiting for. One can see the headlines of the future in the Sunday morning sports sheets—"California Bears Triumph Over Gaels, 103 1-2 to 36 1-2."

But, seriously, there is a good chance that Saint Mary's might be represented among the coast track teams. One thing is sure. And that is that the Gaels would be well taken care of in the field events, being materially aided by the football men in the shot, javelin, running broad-jump, discus and pole-vault. Can't you picture Nickelini, Dodson, Garbo or any of the line tossing out the 16-pound shot. And the discus! Well, now that we have it all fixed up all we need is a track coach as capable as Hamilton of California.

Track events would be taken care of by many of the fast gridders and twice as many of the average Gael students. There is a worthy goal. All you have to do is shot for it.

Now that Coast league baseball has started Saint Mary's students will have some place to spend Tuesday and Thursday afternoons . . . if not at the local swimming pool . . . The Collegian was scooped last Friday by the Post Enquirer on Angel Brovelli's marriage . . . Saint Mary's has the distinction of being the only American college with a hurling team (Al Santoro please copy) . . . those ten cent investments in twenty-five dollars: $25 for the benefit of the team are selling fast . . . there are only 4000 of them . . . the $25 prize wa sdonated . . .

Easter vacation is the signal for the football players to get a line on those summer jobs . . . during this period the gridders go around and seek audiences with contractors, shippers, longshore outfits and such places of possible employment. Around this time too the postoffice is flooded with extra mail coming and going between employers and possible employees. Even hustling for the vacation job at this late date is a precarious practice. The wise ones have placed more than one iron in the fire long ago. Job seeking is not limited to athletes, however. Most of the ordinary students also indulge in the pastime.

Boot of the Week: as seen in the Tuesday morning San Francisco Examiner after the Gaels had trounced the Trojans, 9 to 1: Trojans Pound Gael Tossers for Win.

The the mail bag . . . The Collegian Sports department made Tom Laird's column in the San Francisco News. He deplores the baseball situation at Saint Mary's . . . saying, "In another era, the Saint Mary's Phoenix were the leading college baseball nine of the west and the cradle for many major stars." . . . incidentally, about 30 to 40 Gael ball players have been sent to the big league . . . a record unequalled in the nation . . . McNamee's Miscellany column in the Santa Clara shows the effect of the Passion Play on some sports scribes . . . "Yea, verily, I say unto thee, John, I cannot seem to strike the tennis ball correctly. 'Twill not be long ere we meet those Marauding Moragans from the Valley of Noise." . . .

Seeking Material for Another U.S.C. Championship Team

Bear Baseball Nine Trims Saint Mary's

11-4 Loss Is Third Straight to California

Suffering their third consecutive defeat at the hands of the Golden Bear, the Phoenix went down to a 11 to 4 defeat at Berkeley, Saturday.

Ed Stetson hurled a fine game for the Gaels and deserved a better break. The Saints were very ragged on the defense with the result that five of the opponents' runs were unearned.

California tallied two runs in the first canto without the aid of a hit while the Gaels were contributing errors to the cause. From then on they were never headed although Saint Mary's threatened in the eighth inning when they scored three runs driving Gallison to the showers. Saunders relieved Gallison at this point and retired the side.

Charley Jones starred for the Phoenix when he gathered three hits in as many times at the bat. Hallouer, bear shortstop, also had on his hitting togs and nicked the Saint Mary's chuckers for three hits in four trips to the plate.

Local Bantamweight May Jaunt to Boston

Due to financial conditions of the Pacific Amateur Association, no definite plans have been formulated for the proposed trip to Boston, where the National A.A.U. Tournament is to be held on April 24 and 25, was revealed this week.

"Final plans for the trip will be culminated this week-end," says Joe Lang,

CELLAR CHAMPS BREAK EVEN ON FIRST TWO GAMES

Saint Mary's drew blood from the Trojans last Monday for the first time in many a day, pounding the southerners for a 9-1 win. The Spartan's playing was, in reality, a comedy of errors, booting the ball all over the lot for 10 errors.

Two southpaw chuckers of considerable ability, Vanderbundt for the Gaels, and Buchanan for Troy, started as if they were going to engage in a titanic hurling duel. But Buchanan's support began to wobble early, and it wasn't long before the defense fell completely apart. While Buchanan was floundering without assistance, "Slivers' Vanderbundt was allowing the Trojans but six hits. Three of these were collected by Holbrook, Troy's slugging first sacker, who had a perfect day with a homer and two singles in three trips to the plate.

A pop fly, which Rothwell dropped with two out in the third, allowed the Gaels their first run. Guisto's team added three more in the fifth.

The box score:

Troy Takes Second Game in Rally

Somewhat nettled at their sorry showing of Monday when 10 errors helped Saint Mary's win a 9-1 game, the Trojans turned around Tuesday and beat the Gaels 4-3. A ninth inning rally turned the trick.

With one out in this frame and the Gaels leading 3-2, Holbrook singled to right and Rothwell singled to left. Dedeax walked, filling the bags, and then Minasian drew a pass, forcing in Holbrook with the tying run. Morrow singled to score Rothwell with the winning score.

Frosh Nine Upsets . . Christian Brothers

With Don Raffanti holding the opposition to six scattered hits, the frosh downed the heretofore unbeaten Christian Brothers High School of of Sacramento by a 7-1 score last Saturday at Phoenix field.

The Christian Brothers team took a one-run lead at the start of the game when Nevis, first baseman, hit to score Sweet. The frosh retaliated in their half of the initial inning by scoring two runs, one by Steve Leary, lead-off man, and one by Hanna.

From this point it developed into a pitching duel between Raffanti and Visitainer of the visitors. The next score came in the last half of the sixth when Page scored for St. Mary's. Going into the last of the eighth with a 3-1 lead the first year men, Magrini, Marinovich, Rovia, and Owens bunched their hits to tally four runs and put the game on ice.

Raffanti struck out eight and only allowed one walk. Marinovich, frosh shortstop, proved the heavy hitter of the day, collecting three hits in four trips to the plate. He was closely followed by Rovia, who garnered two hits in three tries.

For the visitors Nevis, Scott, Sugar and Visintainer turned in nice performances, Sugar hitting two for three. Box score:

Oakland Hurlers to Play Return Match

A return game with Oakland Gaelic Club and an exhibition game between "Cork" and "Clare," will be attraction to the Hurling fans next Sunday on Agnon Field at 2 o'clock.

COMING GAMES

Saturday, April 8: Frosh vs. Christian Brothers' High, Sacramento.
Sunday, April 9: Varsity vs. Jefferson Athletic Club, here at 2:30
Tuesday, April 11: Varsity vs. U. S. C., here at 3:15.
Friday, April 7—Tennis varsity vs. Pomona, here at 2:30.
Sunday, April 9—Hurling—Varsity vs. Oakland Gaelic Club.
Exhibition: Corks vs. Clares.

Yearling Pastimers Travel to Capitol

Sacramento bound are the Morogan Yearlings tomorrow, hoping to again upset the Christian Brother's High School nine.

The Gaelets have established an impressive record by the sterling ability of Raffanti and McSweeney, star chuckers. The dexterity with which the infield click, and the cooperation of the outfield, provides the moundsmen with ample support. Nevertheless, it must not be forgotten that the Sacramento nine had an undefeated season with the exception of one game. Earlier in the season the Christian Brothers' High School varsity team invaded the Moraga campus only to receive their only defeat of the season. However, they are determined to make a comeback and, unless the Gaelets keep alert, the tables may be turned.

St. Mary's High Spills First Year Men

Frosh ball tossers suffered a crushing 7-2 defeat the hands of St. Mary's High School of Berkeley last Tuesday at Phoenix field.

The visitors opened the first inning with four runs, chiefly due to the hitting of Englert and Callahan. The prepsters scored twice in the seventh and once in the eighth. The frosh garnered their two runs in the ninth when Magrini and Marinovich hit to score Leary and Hanna.

PHOENIX PLAY FINAL GAME WITH TROJANS FOR CELLAR HONORS

Since both teams are out to avoid the cold darkness of the cellar in the conference, Saint Mary's and U.S.C. should put up a good game when they meet for the third and deciding game of the season, Tuesday, on Phoenix field.

The Gaels, from all accounts, played fine ball in the south when they split even in two games and, for the first time, played the type of baseball of which they are capable. With "Mam" Mora hitting hard and the rest of the Phoenix finding their long sought for batting eyes, the home team apparently stands better than an even chance to cop the series.

U.S.C. has several good ballplayers who will appear here. Buchanan, their star pitcher, was good enough to be chosen on the "College Humor's" All-American baseball team last year. Holbrook, firstbase, is an excellent fielder and one of the hardest hitters in the league. Dado, former Oakland Technical High School lad, covers the short patch like a tent and has attracted the attention of several major league scouts.

Coach Guisto will probably start either Walt Vanderbundt or "Mickey" McKay on the mound with Vanderbunt having an advantage because of the excellent game he pitched in the south when he defeated the Trojans.

VARSITY POSITIONS YEARLING FIGHT FOR

Some lively afternoons are being spent on the grassy football fields of Moraga this spring, with nearly half a gross of aspirants desirous of establishing themselves as strong contenders for first string berths on the 1933 Gael varsity.

Those lads with the most ability are sure to be recognized by that incomparable trio of mentors, consisting of Madigan, McNally and Strader. Recent workouts have principally dealt with offensive and defensive play, with all the lads given a chance to show what they can do.

Much Material

Along with the casualty list there is the baseball team which takes its share of the Gael gridders. Nevertheless, Madigan has enough lettermen on hand to form an impressive looking team which is rounded out with two or three of the boys up from last season's great freshean squad.

Of the yearlings, it appears that Brasnyo and Mattos have the best chance to hold down positions on the regulars. Brasnyo is an ace linesman who has been changed from tackle to guard. Despite his massiveness he is fast and pleasingly adept at this new location. Mattos is a tricky ball carrier and rates at the top when it comes to passing. He discharges bullet passes with deadly aim which means the Canrinus brothers will be a pair of busy targets next fall.

Grid Pilot

Right now, SID AHERN is playing first string quarterback and, by the looks of it, might lead the destinies of Saint Mary's on the gridiron. He is one of the most experienced and headiest field generals that the Gallopign Gaels ever possessed.

Mermen Meet Y.M.C.A. In Return Match

In a return swimming meet, the rejuvenated Gael paddlers will engage the San Francisco Y.M.C.A. tomorrow in the local tank.

As the Moraga mermen have practiced long and diligently these last few weeks, a favorable outcome is expected.

Those who are expected to be outstanding are: Miller, 50-yard free style; Meister and Delano, 100 yards; Fischer and La Cava, backstroke, and Fryer and Barry, breaststroke.

As the diving boards have been removed, it is doubtful whether there will be diving events.

Elaborate Intramural Plans Are Disclosed

With interclass swimming and track meets having been scheduled for April 25, the prospects for popularizing intramural sports on our campus loom brighter.

Trojan Racqeteers Trounce Gael Tennis Squad, 7-2

The Southern California netmen proved to be too powerful for the aGels when they defeaated the Saint Mary's team by a score of 7-2 yesterday.

As usual, Captain Wood took his singles match when he defeated Chadil of U.S.C. after playing a long outstretched second set. There is not much faith placed on the "doping" of tennis matches which can be readily seen since Chadil of U.S.C. has defeated Lloyd Budge of California, And, while Chadil was beaten by Wood, Wood was in turn defeated earlier in the season by Budge. Captain Wood has to date lost only one singles match this season, that match being lost to Budge of California.

Dick Bennett, a new comer appeared on the Gael team for the first time yesterday and gave a wonderful exhibition of steadiness which enabled him to defeat Castlen after losing the first set. Bennett is ranked third in California.

The U.S.C. team is a splendid group of players, individually, and teamed well together for doubles. With all players being of equal caliber, it is hard to pcik the most outstanding players. However, Chadil and Castlen played wonderful sets of singles in spite of their defeats.

Although losing two out of the six singles, U.S.C. won the remaining doubles matches easily. Chadil and Castlen represent, perhaps, the best doubles combination in the conference since they have defeated both the Stanford and California first doubles team.

Although they had traveled all night on the train the Trojans were not weakened by the trip. During their brief visit, they will play the Golden Bears this afternoon on the California courts and Saturday they will be the guests of the Indians at Stanford.

Hurlers Down Oakland Gaelic Club, 33-9

"Begorra, these fellows are good." This remark was caused by the splendid showing of the Saint Mary's hurling team last Sunday when they defeated the Oakland Gaelic Club by the score of 10 goals and 3 points (33 points) to 3 goals (9 points).

The men who started for the College were Raftery, Ten Eyck, Brother James, Brother Virgil, Brother Mathew, Ponti, Pendelton, Armis, O'Nick and Dinneen. Gamble, Hallesy, Dowd and Phealin saw action as substitutes.

A return game is to be played on Agnon Field, in which the College team will proudly display the new outfits that will shortly be purchased for them from the proceeds of the donation investment.

Tennis Team Faces Pomona Team Here

In their last match of the season the Saint Mary's tennis team meets the barnstorming collegians from Pomona today on the Moraga courts in what promises to be a close battle.

The Pomonans have had a rather successful season, recently defeating San Mateo Junior College which took the measure of the Gaels. For Pomona, Alman and Malone are the mainstays; each is a good singles player. Captain Chuck Wood will lead his men in the season's last match.

Ever smoke "whittle" tobacco?

Well . . . here it is . . . already whittled FOR you. Granger Rough Cut is tobacco whittled right . . . that's one reason why it burns so slow and cool.

WHEN we started to make Granger Rough Cut we knew that fine tobacco burnt hot because it burnt so fast. It kept your pipe hot. You could hardly hold your pipe in your hand, it got so hot at times.

Then we remembered that some folks back yonder used to "whittle" their tobacco. So we made GRANGER just like "whittle" tobacco — "Rough Cut." It smokes cooler and lasts a lot longer. And also, you'll find it never gums the pipe.

So far, so good. Now we wanted to sell this tobacco for 10c. Good tobacco—right process—cut right. It was a question of how to do it for the price.

So we put GRANGER in a sensible soft foil pouch instead of an expensive package, knowing that a man can't smoke a package. We gave smokers this good GRANGER tobacco in a common-sense pouch for 10c.

GRANGER has not been on sale very long, but it has grown to be a popular smoke. And there is this much about it —we have yet to know of a man who started to smoke it, who didn't keep on. Folks seem to like it.

The Essay of the Week

THE CATHOLIC PRESS

The press has been called, and rightfully so, the most important material factor in the development and progress of any cause. The significance of this statement is only too apparent, and because we are brought to this realization so greatly by the secular press, it seems to reflect adversely on those forces back of the Catholic press, considering it does not exert the same great influence. However, outside of the Sacraments, the Catholic press probably exerts a greater influence on Catholics than any other particular force, yet it is not nearly so great as it could be.

Lack of Capital

The chief reason for the failure of the Catholic press to exert a greater influence seems to lie in the lack of capital to back it up. Another is the fact that people as a rule are not desirous of subscribing to Catholic papers and periodicals and when we wonder at the cause of all this we perceive that the press is not adequately equipped to get all the latest news, coupled with the fact that when they do get the news, it is not presented in the most interesting form —both in the manner written and the layout of the page.

Catholic Action

One of the great projects in America today is Catholic Action and naturally such a move can be effected best through the medium of the press. The latter is the root of Catholic Action. Although there are some 300 Catholic papers, periodicals and reviews in America today, and with a circulation of some 8,000,000 people, this is really but a small percentage. It should be understood that the leaders of the press movement are not trying to make everyone Catholics, but they do wish to acquaint everyone with the Catholic viewpoint. That is one of the faults of the secular newspaper. They seldom, often through plain ignorance of the facts, present anything from the Catholic viewpoint. This was particularly brought out in the recent torments of Spain and Mexico. Not troubles between the Church and govonly non-Catholics but Catholics presented by the secular newspapers themselves believe the situation as and thus we see the work entailed for the Catholic press in bringing out the truth. The importance of the press should be impressed, for it helps the Church not only in its progress but can defend the Church when attacked.

Christian Viewpoint

The Catholic, if he truly is supporting his religion, desires that news which pertains to Catholics and from that viewpoint. The secular newspapers often impart a decidedly one-sided view of stories of a spiritual, charitable, and educational nature, and it is the work of the Catholic press to make these stories their most important features and acquaint the reading public of them. The secular press is practically a business subject to material influences of commercialism—it is motivated by the shifting requirements of a none-too-ethical commercial policy. There is a marked difference between it and the Catholic press in aims, quality, standards and atmosphere. The latter press is apostolate, it molds society to the ideals of Christ and is motivated by the fixed demands of an uncompromising religious policy. This is the true aim of the Catholic press, yet they are hampered by those factors which have already been pointed out and the essential problem of the moment is to remedy these factors.

College Journalism Preparatory

One solution that has often been suggested is the creation of a greater interest in the colleges and universities for the field of journalism. There are many excellent opportunities along this line for young Catholic men as this particular field is one of the least crowded. This, in itself, would present a greater opportunity for the laity to further the cause of Catholic action. After all, the greatest work in this respect can only be accomplished through the cooperation of the laity and the church. Another phase in which the laity could further this cause is through books. Books play a great part in influencing people and moulding opinions. Thus, with but little effort, the laity could arrange to have Catholic books placed in the public libraries and encourage their reading.

N. C. W. C.

The National Catholic Welfare Conference has done invaluable good in promoting a fuller and more comprehensive idea of what Catholics and Catholicism are doing throughout the world. Adverse financial conditions have not deterred them in their efforts, for the leaders of this movement have Catholic Action at heart and know that the Catholic press has a great spiritual influence and appeal.

A certain writer in a Catholic magazine has outlined the particular mission of the Catholic Press and it sums up the ideals which our Catholic press is striving to maintain. These are: 1. to champion Christian truths. 2. to expound the great social teachings of the Gospel. 3. To defend the integrity of the home. 4. To insist upon liberty, culture and standards that are the fruits of genuine civilization. Lastly, to spread the faith.

Book Review

FIRST NIGHT, by Lorna Rea (Harpers, 1932).

A reader takes quickly to a keen satire because it gives him an opportunity to say a lot of things, with the aid of the author, about a lot of people. In "First Night" one can take malicious delight in looking into people's thoughts and reactions at the opening of a new play. Miss Rea has wielded an indiscriminate but none the less efficient scalpel in order to give us what we have long wanted: a close-up of an opening of the mental processes of a first night house from both sides of the footlights.

We were given a decided advantage over most first-nighters because we were introduced to the author of the play, the manager of the theater, the producer, the star, the members of the cast and representative members of the audience. And our hostess, Miss Rea, has contrived to give us intimate and detailed information about the lives of them all.

Its surprising to find an eminent dramatic critic more concerned over whether or not his wife has found out about his stenographer than he is over ust what brand of scathing irony he will use to describe this first-night presentation in the morning paper. Its a bit odd to find the young author at the first night of his first play busily engaged in pleading with his heart's desire in an anti-room when he should have been in his seat absorbing the first act.

There's wisdom, too, sprinkled through this sparkling satire. As the young author's "glorious enegma" tells him: "After all, one hasn't so very many really intimate friends, and while everything is going all right, the others are all great fun and one gets a lot of pleasure out of them. But even friends—if they ask you to lunch and you're poor, they give you stewing steak and a nice simple pudding, and if you're rich they give you lobster and chicken and mushrooms. And ,of course, it isn't the food that matters, its the attitude."

San Quentin Debate Director to Be Guest

The director of the San Quentin debating team which recently met the locals wrote Carroll Coughlan, president of the A.P.G.U., accepting an invitation to dinner on the evening of April 20th.

In part the letter read: "I want to say that from now on and from the fact of my first contact with you, I am in a very real sense a St. Mary's man. I like your men and I want to do everything I can to boost your stock."

What Next? War-Haters Save "Ironsides" and Refuse To Fight

Nearly a hundred delegates from the colleges of Northern California met last week-end on the Stanford University campus in the first Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Conference Against War. Saint Mary's, the only Catholic College to take part in the meeting, was represent edby Campbell Juleff, Phipps Rasmussen and Noel Sherry.

Under the chairmanship of Phipps Rasmussen the Saint Mary's delegation played an important part in forming the resolutions adopted by the convention and an alliance of the California-Saint Mary's group prevented the adoption of a program advocated by Communist delegates.

The opening address was delivered by Mrs. Bertha Lowndes, prominent San Francisco social worker, on Friday evening. Mrs. Lowndes made a plea for a better understanding between students of different nations and advocated the conversion of war funds to education and the general adoption of the "International Club" idea.

Saturday morning the delegates listened to a stirring speech by Professor Krepps, head of the Stanford school of business and a World War veteran. "If the younger generation refuses to succumb to war propaganda another war cannot be fought," he stated. "All wars are fought by young boys."

The same morning Miss Oleta O'Connor of the University of California addressed the delegates. Miss O'Connor presented the idea that since wars were due to capitalistic greed, if the next war were resisted, capitalism would fail, but she failed to show how the collapse of capitalism would be any guarantee for peace.

During the day the delegates took part in various round tables. Rasmussen, Sherry and Juleff took an important part in the discussions on "Danger Spots in Europe" and "A Plan for Pacifist Action." A proposed resolution to demand the sinking of Old Ironsides was defeated largely through the work of Saint Mary's delegate, Rasmussen.

As a direct result of the conference a Saint Mary's chapter of War Resister's League will be organized during the coming week. Students desirous of enrolling should communicate with one of the Saint Mary's delegates. It will be the aim of the local unit of the War Resisters to bring distinguished pacifist speakers to the campus and to stimulate an anti-militaristic spirit among students.

U. S. radio listeners heard the impressive ceremonies last Saturday as His Holiness Pope Pius XI formally inaugurated the Holy Year in Rome. The Pope broke in the Holy Door and called upon the whole world to enter a period of expiation and prayer. The following morning in Radio City, New York, leaders of all faiths made a plea over a world radio hookup for general observance of the Holy Year.

Hindenburg Still in Power

With the news that Hitler suppressed the anti-Jewish boycott in Germany at the command of President Hindenburg, Germany's stock went up among foreign nations. The knowledge that "Old Paul" still has something to say will make Hitler's violent declarations seem far less dangerous.

They are all doing it, these amateur plagiarists who write columns in student newspapers . . . i.e., the story of the evolution of the student:

Lower Classmen Solve Urge To Act By Forming Society

Although there has been no official dramatic activity on the campus, a number of local thespians have joined the Peralta Park Dramatic Guild which has been recently organized by the alumni of the Saint Mary's High School in Berkeley under the guidance of Brother Cyprian.

Freshmen Interested

Four members of the freshmen class, James McGuire, president of the organization; William Dodge, who will take the leading role; Jack Manley, Joseph Leonard, and also Clay McElroy have now entered in the Berkeley Recreational department sponsoring a one-act-play contest to take place at the Berkeley High School Auditorium during the week of April 18-22.

Contestants

Seventeen organizations have entered the contest, among which are The Armstrong Thespians, who will present "The Valiant," by Paul Muni. This group will be under the directorship of Miss Rosalie Winslow of Armstrong College. The U. C. Experimental Theater, although young from the viewpoint of time since their organization, have established a feeling of vital importance among its audiences, will present a one-act play, entitled "The Chain," contributed to the dramatic world by Attikos.

There is no doubt that there will be plenty of color to the contest, as "The Rider of Dreams," by Ridgley Torrence will be entered by the Negro Players, who are well known for their humor.

"The Verdict," by Professor Louis LeFevre will be presented by the Peralta Park Dramatic Guild. Professor LeFevre is the honorary vice president of the organization, and he is also associated with Saint Mary's College as the head of the History department.

Catholics Active

During the past week the Peralta Park Dramatic Guild has skilfully and successfully made the four following presentations:

Sunday, April 2—Presentation Convent, Berkeley.

Monday, April 3—Berkeley K .C. Council.

Tuesday, April 4—St. Columbus' Parish for benefit under the auspices of Holy Names.

Thursday, April 16—St. Mary's High School, under the auspices of the Mothers' Club.

This organization's chief purpose is to form a service club to carry on benefit work in the future.

Tickets for the contest may be obtained from William Dodge, a member of the freshmen class.

Spring Issue of Quarterly Blossoms With Much Variety

The spring edition of the Moraga Quarterly abounds with many interesting and enlightening essays, dealing with literary, historic and philosophic themes.

Doctors of Church

In his characteristic polished and lucid style Brother Leo in his article, "Augustine and Aquinas," originally delivered as a lecture before the Philosophy Club of the College of the Pacific, deals with the two great doctors of the Church. Of the comparative worth and influence of the two philosophers he writes: "St. Augustine and St. Thomas have the distinct advantage of being associated with the Catholic interpretation of existence, with the Catholic philosophy of life; the disadvantage, since, during the last three or four centuries, many of the finest thinkers have been either hostile or indifferent to Catholicity and have gone to minimize the importance and the influence of spokesmen of Catholic thought; the advantage, since the present vogue and the organic continuity of the Church of Rome serve to foster and perpetuate the ideas of those two men who, in their lives and in their writings, bore such brilliant and learned witness to the faith that was in them. But Augustine and Aquinas have both yet another source of abiding life and yet another claim on our attention, for each embodies a fundamental attitude, each illustrates a basic tendency in life and thought. Augustine is the complete Christian Platonist and Aquinas is the complete Christian Aristotleian."

Settlement of Panama

Dr. Allyn C. Loosley, of the economics department, made his first contribution to the magazine with his article, "Panama: Road of Destiny," in which he treats in a general way of its first settlement in 1517 by Gaspar de Espenosa until the force of the English caused destruction of Spanish commerce in the Caribbean.

Scholary Letter

Climaxing his timely and scholarly letters to great minds of the past is Prof. J. L. Hagerty's brilliant letter addressed "To St. Teresa on Prosperity." After consulting Dean Swift, Eramus and Darwin, he now turns to the saintly and scholarly Teresa whose motto "Obras, que no palabras," might so effectively be applied today, to preserve us from prosperity. Of the evils resulting from a period of prosperty Prof. Hagerty writes: "Perhaps prosperity has relieved us of the need of God—we have lost confidence in prayer. I have a friend a fervent and exemplary Catholic, who is of opinion that prayer would have little to do with obtaining a job in these difficult days, but that determination and resourcefulness and preparation might accomplish it. Surely Pelagius was no more outspoken. Yet when we search our souls we all find them sorely wounded by pride of life. There is a general defection, we are all in a most cowardly retreat."

San Francisco

Brother Henry, who is a recognized authority on the literature of California, writes of the songsters of his beloved San Francisco in his poetically named essay, "The City of Mists and Dreams." In his clear, manly style he cites many poets who have sung the praise of San Francisco from Stevenson's "Beside the Gates of Gold," to the "rattling ballad," "The Hyde Street Grip" of Burgess.

In his essay, "Classic or Barbarian," H. D. B. Soule of the department of classics, effectively draws the distinction between the formless moderns and the writers of antiquity. Of the many barbarians such as Joyce and O'Neill who are drugging the market today he writes: "A barbarian may have ability, he may even possess distinguished talents; what he does not, and in the nature of things cannot, have is the taste and tact to make a wise selection where a choice is offered. He lacks the tradition of culture and enlightenment."

"Nothing New in History"

Mr. Lee Fevre, who has for many years repeated his favorite phrase, "There is nothing new in history," again effectively illustrates his advocation in his scholarly article, "The Newer Freedom." By historical analogy he points out that our so-called modern villains such as Stinnes, Kreuger and Insull have their historical precursors in Sforza, Cosmo de Medici and Frederic of Urbino. Of the shallowness and evil effects of this newer freedom Prof. Le Fevre writes: "Just as the newer freedom has effected man socially and religiously, so it has effected him politcially. Discarding his faith in institutions he becomes inclined to allow the individual to mold his opinions for him, and eventually he is like Alice and the Red Queen—back where he started, back to paternalism and some form of absolutism."

The poetic element is supplied by two worthwhile poems by the mysterious A. M. D.

Presidential Platforms

elevation and, with this end as our ultimate goal, we submit the following platform:

1. To give full cooperation to the athletic office in its campaign of developing minor and intramural sports. For the purpose of increasing competion and encouraging student activities.
2. A wholehearted cooperation of the student body toward all activities in which representatives of Saint Mary's appear in public.
3. To encourage and promote social functions which, in our opinion, we believe to be an integral part of college education.
4. To give our wholehearted cooperation in the collection of the annual student fee, which is authorized by the constitution. For we believe that financial backing of the entire student body is one of the essentials of student government.
5. To further the work of debating, dramatics and other extra-curriculum activities. Giving financial assistance if funds permit.
6. It shall be our desire to unify the day students and boarders into one body. For we feel that the existing dissension retards the progress of good student government.

These are not vague promises and we desire that you carefully consider the planks in our platform as outlined above. In the light of our reputation, both past and present, trusting that we keep our word.

5. To allow due student body consideration of propositions—no "railroading."
6. To eliminate graft: to demand written reports by classes of all bills on dances, plays and benefits directly to the student affairs committee and to classes.
7. To have reports of varsity committee as provided by the constitution.
8. Since, as defined by the constitution, the class is a section of the student body and it should be the business of the student affairs committee to see that the class officers accept their responsibilities and maintain some definite type of class activity.

Instructor Advocates Medium Plane in Art

Providing an interesting discourse on "Modern Art and Education," Brother Bartholomew, head of the College Art Department, completed the tenth of the present Classroom of the Air series last Monday evening over station KYA in San Francisco. The instructor emphasized the value of a medium plane in art, and criticized the extremist levels in this field.

"While agreeing that sound principles have been advanced by the reactionaries against academicism, the Bolshevists in art are not satisfied with the Via Media but desire to go the whole way and insist on one or more principles to the exclusion of all others; failing to balance and weigh. The ultra-modernistic artist uses one or more of the principles or means in a spirit bizarre, fantastic, wild, grotesque, vulgar and gruesome; purely subjective and disdainful of nature and therefore hideously unnatural and unbeautiful; sometimes affectedly primitive or savage; more often morbid or bordering on the insane."

Brother Bartholomew discussed the are of the centuries-old cathedrals and landmarks down to the recent civic attempt in building, the San Francisco Opera House and War Memorial of which he called, "mechanically a wonder but architecturally a blunder."

The program was announced by Charles Fischer '34 and vocal solos were offered by Rudie Swall. The eleventh, and possibly the final Classroom of the Air, will feature Father Bowling, student chaplain.

The Inquirer

By Joseph Leonard

"What general improvements would you suggest to be made at Saint Mary's College?"

Vincent Whelton—I would recommend that the school place an ornamental arch as an entrance to the campus.

Frank Passalaqua—Put the student body fee of $1 on the bill and transfer it to the student body treasury.

Hurd Booth—It is my opinion that, as soon as possible, the College should construct a new library and auditorium. This would enlarge and improve the beauty of the campus as well as being a great aid to intellectual pursuits.

John Murphy—I suggest that the entire campus be entirely cleaned and repaired in preparation for commencement. A clean campus would make a good impression on the thousands of visitors.

Ben Squires—Eliminate the campus racketeers.

John Baat—I think it would be an excellent idea to put elevators in the residence halls.

Athens Club Welcomes Beer Return Tonight

"Happy new beer" . . .

The Athens Athletic Club have planned a big celebration for tonight to welcome the new legal beverage.

Tom Coakley and his Lager Rhythms will present special numbers appropriate for the occasion. Coakley will also feature Virginia Haig (& Haig), Carl Ravazza, singing Brewery Ballads, and "The Three Mugs," vocal trio.

The Athens Club have made it posl sible for everyone to sit in on their "new deal" by using potato chips.

A grand stein will be had by all and many reservations have been made to see "The bottle of the century."

Who's Who

Among the names of the leading American scientists included in the fifth edition of "American Men of Science," published by the Science Press, is that of Dr. Arthur S. Campbell, professor of Zoology at Saint Mary's College.

Dr. A. S. Campbell

In order to be included in the distinguished list of important men in science, the investigators named must be active contributers to their respective fields.

Professor Campbell is included among these because of his numerous contributions upon the subject of Protozoology, especially for his work upon marine, tropical species, many of which are described by this investigator for the first time, and also for his work upon the fauna of the cow's stomach.

In the course of his marine studies Dr. Campbell has described over 300 species new to science; some of these are among the most peculiar and beautiful form known.

The field of investigation, Protozoology, selected by the Saint Mary's scientist, is a relatively new and highly important branch of Zoology. Its importance is greatly increased by medical contributions to tropical disease.

Several students of the College have been interested to continue with the field of study selected by their mentor.

HOLY YEAR

The Holy Father himself opens the Door in St. Peter's and Holy Doors are also opened in St. Paul's (outside the walls), St. Mary Major, and St. John Lateran. It is claimed that the first opening of a Holy Door was observed by Pope Martin V at the basilica of St. John Lateran.

Hopes for Holy Year

"The Holy Father feels confident," said Father Bowling, "that this Holy Year will be a year of spiritual exaltation for the whole Christian world. In times like these with the Eternal Truths forgotten amidst pagan ideals, the world needs a Holy Year to bring us back to the ideals of Christ and His Church."

The Pontiff himself, in replying to the annual New Year greetings of the Roman nobility, headed by Prince Colonna, said, "The Holy Year, beginning in 1933, will bring a spiritual revival, will restore the world's confidence, and induce the return of economic stability."

BOOK-A-YEAR

The Book-a-Year Club exhibit in the alumni office was a most effective way of showing the results of the activities of that group during its one-year of existence. About 500 books have been secured during the first year under the direction of Frank L. Dodd '19, originator of the Book-a-Year idea.

Senior Sketches

Thomas J. Twomey

"Wanted—One cartoonist." This sign will soon be hung out by The Collegian, and the reason is Joseph Kennedy.

Joseph Kennedy

For the past three years Kennedy has been drawing cartoons for the campus weekly so when he graduates in May there will be but one cartoonist left on the staff.

His efforts, which have won for him a journalism award, were at first rather weak. This criticism is offered by senior members of the staff, but they state that he has steadily improved until his labors now are quite interesting and outstanding.

He has been a member of the Art Society for two years, and as a senior he is now vice president of that organization.

To Continue Art Study

Upon graduating, Joe intends to pursue his studies at some local art school.

"The campus undoubtedly needs many improvements, but first of all I would recommend that the Senior Bench be replastered or painted. "It's an eyesore," declared Kennedy as he suggested a number of changes on the campus as seen from an art student's viewpoint.

"Maps of California from 1474 to 1750," is the unique topic he has been developing for his thesis. He is enrolled in the prelegal curriculum.

Saint Mary's High in Berkeley was his prep school Alma Mater. Since his graduation from that institution in 1929, the cartoonist has spent his four college years commuting from the East Bay to the Moraga Valley.

Dangerous Hobby

Saxophone artists are generally looked upon with scorn and even with hatred. However, such conditions do not seem to worry Joe for he reveals that his pet pastime is saxophone tooting.

As yet he reports that no threats of violence have been received, due to this rather unpleasant hobby.

Ivory Court Holds Gay Celebration Tonight

Tonight the return of beer will be welcomed at a Happy Days celebration and dinner dance in the Ivory Court of the Hotel Oakland.

More than 1000 advance reservations have been received and the affair promises to be not only the biggest, but the gayest party of its kind held at the hostelry since national prohibition went into effect some 13 years ago, according to Manager Henry Barker.

committee; Sylvester Andriano, Northern Retreat committee; Ronald J. Herzig, Southern Retreat committee.

Columbian Squires

J. Leslie Darnell, chairman of the committee on Boy Welfare, is a prominent layman of Vallejo. He is director of the Vallejo unit of the Columbian Squires, whom, on Sunday, May 14, at 1 p.m., will give a field day and band concert.

The convention proper begins on Monday, May 15, at 9 a.m., in Dante Hall. It is the first major convention of this kind to be held in Contra Costa county.

PRESS MEET

This program is definite except for the arrangement of the special train, which will be supplied for the convenience of the guests.

During the week the remaining invitations were sent out. Letters have been mailed to more than twenty-five Catholic high schools in Northern California.

The convention will be the second one to be sponsored by the Press Club. Established last year as an annual affair, the convention proved a great success when over one hundred delegates from Catholic high schools attended. The Peraltan of Saint Mary's College High won the award for the best high school paper. The trophy for the best high school annual was presented to the Heights of St. Ignatius High.

Proposed New Constitution Of the Associated Students

ARTICLE I.

This association shall be known as the Associated Students of Saint Mary's College.

ARTICLE II.

The purpose of this association shall be to promote and regulate all extra-curricular student activities including athletics, rallies, forensics, social functions, dramatics and publications.

ARTICLE III.

All registered students of Saint Mary's College who have paid the annual student body fee shall be active members of the association. Active members only shall have a voice and vote in the meetings of the association.

ARTICLE IV.

OFFICERS

Section 1. The officers of the association shall be a president, a vice-president, a secretary, a treasurer, and a representative executive council.

Sec. 2. The president shall be a member, in full standing, of the senior class, and shall hold office for the two semesters of the college year. He shall preside at all meetings of the association and shall be ex-officio chairman of all committees.

Sec. 3. The vice-president shall have full senior standing. In the absence of the president, the vice-president shall preside at all meetings of the executive council.

Sec. 4. The secretary shall keep a correct record of all the meetings of the association and of the executive council. He shall announce the time of the meetings and conduct the official correspondence of the association. At the end of his term of office he shall file the minutes of the association in the college library.

Sec. 5. The treasurer shall keep a record of the collection and disbursement of the annual assessments (or student fees) and shall render a report at each meeting of the executive counsil. He shall receive and collect all other assessments of the student body.

Sec. 6. The executive council of the association shall be composed of twelve acting members. Each class shall be represented by three active members. Non-voting members of the council shall be the executive officers of student societies whose membership is at least fifty; the editor of The Collegian, one member of the varsity committee and the president of the association, and the Faculty representative.

Sec. 7. No student body officer shall be a member of the council.

Sec. 8. The vice-president may vote in case of a tie. All questions shall be decided by a majority vote.

Sec. 9. The term of office for all officers of the student body shall begin on the opening date of the Fall semester and conclude at the close of the Spring semester.

ARTICLE V.

DUTIES OF THE COUNCIL

Section 1. The duties of the executive council shall be to conduct the regular business of the association.

Sec. 2. The executive council shall hold weekly meetings throughout the scholastic year.

Sec. 3. One member of the Faculty and one member of the Board of Athletic Control may be present at the meetings of the council. They shall have no vote and shall not be present while a vote is being taken without the consent of the vice-president.

Sec. 4. The executive council shall receive and act upon the various reports of student body committees.

Sec. 5. A report of each meeting of the council shall be published by the secretary in The Collegian or upon the campus bulletin boards, not later than one week after the respective meeting.

Sec. 6. All decisions of the executive council shall be subject to the veto of the student body in general meeting.

Sec. 7. Eight members of the council shall constitute a quorum.

Sec. 8. At the discretion of the council, determined by vote, meetings may be declared closed.

ARTICLE VI.

MEETINGS

Section 1. A regular meeting of the association shall be held at least three times a semester.

Sec. 2. A special meeting may be called by any class through its representatives on the executive council, or by the president of the association. The time of such meetings shall be subject to the approval of the Chancellor.

Sec. 3. Meetings of the association and of the executive council, campus societies, or any classes appointing representatives shall be conducted according to Robert's Rules of Order.

ARTICLE VII.

ELECTIONS

Section 1. The president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer of the association shall be elected by a plurality of the total votes cast by the members of the student body.

Sec. 2. The officers of the association with the exception of the council members shall not be elected at the same meeting in which they are nominated. They shall be nominated at the last regular meeting of the Spring semester. The election shall take place not less than one week after the aforesaid meeting.

Sec. 3. The election committee shall be composed of the student affairs committee. In the event that the junior class member should be a candidate for office, his place on this committee shall be filled by temporary appointment of the president.

Sec. 4. The executive council members shall be elected from each class at the close of the spring semester. Representatives from the freshman class shall not be elected until the first week of the second quarter; until such time as they are elected the president shall appoint representatives.

ARTICLE VIII.

COMMITTEES

Section 1. Student Affairs.—a.—Purpose. It shall be the purpose of this committee to interpret the spirit of the student body, the constitution, and all violations thereof. When immediate action is demanded and in time of need it is the place of this committee to advise and assist the president in the enforcement of his executive power.

b.—Members. The committee shall be composed of the president of the association as chairman; the vice-president, representing the executive council; the president of the senior class; the editor of The Collegian; a representative of the Block SM Society; and a representative appointed by the president from each of the upper division classes.

c.—Meetings. Meetings shall be called at least once a month and also at the discretion of the chairman.

d.—Records. An accurate record of all proceedings of this committee shall be kept by a secretary appointed by the chairman and these minutes shall be open only to the members of the committee except in times of actual necessity when it may be reviewed by the entire student body in session.

e.—Responsibility. The committee is responsible in all its activities to the student body and the student body shall be their first consideration.

Sec. 2. Varsity Committee. The varsity committee shall consist of the coach of the sport in question, the manager of the sport in question, the graduate manager, the director of athletics, and the president of the association, who shall be chairman of the committee and a representative of each of the four classes appointed as freshmen to serve on the committee for four years.

Duties. This committee shall determine what games shall be considered intercollegiate with reference to awards; they shall decide upon the men who are eligible to receive varsity sweaters, but they shall not fix the requirements for such eligibility. The decisions of this committee shall be submitted to the executive council. It shall be the duty of the managers of the respective sports to present to the committee a record of the time of participation in games of each player.

Sec. 3. The rally committee shall be appointed by the president of the association at the first student body meeting of the fall semester. It shall consist of the yell leaders and four members of each class. The head yell leader shall act as chairman of this committee.

Duties. This rally committee shall promote and supervise all rallies, send-offs, visiting teams' entertainments, rooting section events and similar activities. Programs outlined by the rally committee must be submitted to the executive council.

Sec. 4. Publications Committee. The publications committee shall consist of a Faculty advisor, editor of the annual, editor of The Collegian, and president of the student body as ex-officio chairman. This committee shall promote publications, safeguard their interests and take means to insure their support.

ARTICLE IX.

PUBLICATIONS

Sec. 1. The Collegian shall be the official publication of the Associated Students. The editor retiring and the Faculty advisor shall appoint the future editor. The editor shall have general supervision over the publication of The Collegian and appoint the necessary assistants with the sanction of the Faculty advisor.

Sec. 2. An annual shall be published by the Associated Students under the supervision of the junior class. The annual shall be published at the end of the spring semester each year. The editor, a member of the junior class, shall be elected by the class. The election shall be subject to the approval of the Faculty advisor of publications. The editor shall be directly responsible to the Faculty advisor.

ARTICLE X.

YELL LEADERS.

Section 1. There shall be three yell leaders: the head yell leader, a member of the senior class; two assistant yell leaders, members of the ujnior class. The two assistant yell leaders shall be selected at the first meeting after the opening of the fall semester. All members of the junior class are eligible to try out without being nominated. They shall be elected by ballot. The two assistants thus elected shall automatically be placed on the ballot of the student body election at the close of the spring semester and the assistant receiving the plurality of votes shall thus become the head yell leader for the following year.

Sec. 2. The yell leaders shall perform their duties for all major sports and for events decided by the rally committee. The yell leaders shall have full control of the rooting section at all times.

ARTICLE XI.

STUDENT MANAGERS

Section 1. Student managers shall be members of the senior class.

Sec. 2. Student managers for the major sports shall be appointed at the end of the respective seasons by a committee composed of the retiring manager of that sport, the coach of that sport and the graduate manager.

Sec. 3. There shall be ten assistant managers in football and baseball, consisting of five members of the freshman class who have complied with section 4 of this article and chosen at the beginning of the respective sport season by the student manager of the sport and the graduate manager, three members of the sophomore class who were freshman assistant managers to be chosen by the committee named in section 2 of this article, two members of the junior class who were sophomore assistant managers to be chosen by the same committee.

Sec. 4. All freshmen desiring to become assistant managers shall make application to the student managers at the beginning of each sport season.

Sec. 5. One of the junior managers shall be chosen by the committee named in section 2 as senior manager of his sport. The other shall automatically become senior manager of the freshman team in that same sport.

Sec. 6. In case of vacancies in the student manager system the committee named in section 2 of this article shall appoint successors to fill those vacancies.

Sec. 7. Duties of student manager and assistants. The student manager and his assistants shall be under the supervision of the graduate manager and the coach in that sport. The student manager shall receive all applications from freshmen aspiring to become assistant managers, and after due consideration of their ability the student manager shall submit their applications with recommendations to the committee named in section 2.

ARTICLE XIII.

Section 1. A sweater as specified in section 3 of this article shall be awarded to every member of the varsity and freshman baseball, football, and basketball teams, providing that he has fulfilled the following requirements:

Football and basketball—The sum total of minutes played by all men participating in a whole or any part of the intercollegiate games shall be divided by the number of men who have participated in these games. The quotient thus reached will be the average number of minutes actually played. All players whose individual total number of minutes is equal to or above this average shall receive the specified award.

Baseball—All players except pitchers must play in two-fifths of the total number of innings of all the intercollegiate games to get the specified award. Pitchers must pitch one-fifth of the total innings of the intercollegate games to receive the specified award.

Sec. 2. On recommendation of the varsity committee a block may be awarded to a player or players in a major sport who has been prevented by injury or some other cause which in the judgment of the varsity committee has prevented him from legally earning his award.

Sec. 3. The sweater for the first year of competition shall be either a V neck style with a seven (7") inch interlocking SM; or a coat sweater with a five (5") inch interlocking SM; according to the choice of the candidate. The sweater awarded for the second year of competition shall be a red coat sweater with a five (5") inch interlocking SM. The sweater awarded for the third year of competition shall be a coat sweater, either red or white with a five (5") inch interlocking SM.

The freshman award shall be a V neck style sweater with numerals of the respective class.

Sec. 4. The varsity sweater given for the first year of competition shall contain no stripes; for the second year of competition two (2) stripes; for the third year of competition three (3) stripes. All stripes shall be on the left arm.

Sec. 5. All stripes shall be blue, except in the case of captains, who shall reecive a white stripe to denote each year's captaincy.

Sec. 6. Yell leaders while acting in an official capacity shall wear a standard white jersey sweater. The head yell leader shall be awarded at the beginning of his senior a white coat sweater of varsity material bearing the standard emblem as filed in the Moderator's office.

Sec. 7. The student manager of varsity and freshman sports shall be awarded at the beginning of their senior year a white coat sweater of varsity material bearing the emblem as filed in the Moderator's office. The varsity manager of intramural sports shall likewise receive an award after satisfactory completion of his first semester's work.

Sec. 8. No one save those awarded letters by the student body shall be permitted to wear block emblems of any sort. A list of those entitled to wear the block emblems shall be kept by the secretary of the Associated Students and he shall bring to the notice of that body the case of any violations.

Sec. 9. Tennis, swimming and golf shall be recognized as minor sports. The awarding of the minor sport letter, as on file in the Moderator's office, shall be conditioned by the following: That intercollegiate competition be entered into; and that the varsity committee, acting in conjunction with the managers and captains of the various minor sports, with the sanction of the atheltic moderator, shall determine those who are to receive awards.

ARTICLE XIII

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Section 1. Purpose. The purpose of intramural sports shall be to increase the physical development of the entire student body by providing opportunity for directed competitive sports.

Sec. 2. Terms. The student body shall be divided into sections comprising the four classes, frosh, sophs, juniors and seniors, and they shall again be divided into day and resident students, making eight possible groups from which teams shall be drawn. Any campus organization that can supply the requisite number of contestants may be allowed to join the competition with the approval of the manager of intramural sports.

Sec. 3. Direction. The sole direction of intramural sports shall rest in the elected student manager from the students at large with the provision that they shall not be qualified for the position unless they have served for one year as a manager of a group team. In case no manager is available from the previous year, nominations may be made from the entire student body membership. The manager shall be assisted in particular competitive contests by a faculty member of the physical education department appointed by the board of athletic control.

Sec. 4. Duties of the manager. a.—The manager shall organize all play-offs at the beginning of the season of each particular sport.

b. The manager shall receive all challenges and shall arrange all incidental contests.

c. He shall see that at least one week shall elapse before any challenge shall be accepted.

d. He shall officially tabulate results and keep records of the point score toward the final yearly award and announce the winning teams and the names of the contestants after each game.

e. The manager shall see that intramural sports shall not conflict with the policies of the board of athletic control and shall avoid the interference with the practice of varsity teams.

Sec. 5. The intramural sports award. The intramural sports award shall be presented to the group that shall have the highest total of points at the end of the school year. Fifty points shall be given to the winner of each seasonal play-off and ten points shall be given to the winner of occasional contests. No points shall be awarded nor any standing changed in case of a tie.

Sec. 6. Official sports. The official intramural sports shall be: 1, football; 2, swimming; 3, tennis; 4, basketball; 5, track; 6, baseball.

Sec. 7. Award to manager. The manager of intramural sports shall be awarded a regulation varsity manager's sweater.

ARTICLE XIV.

AMENDMENTS.

Section 1. Amendments to this constitution must be presented to the executive council for consideration. The executive council, with the approval of the Chancellor, shall call a meeting of the association within two weeks after the presentation of the amendment for the vote of the association.

Sec. 2. The executive council may not veto any amendments but may make any recommendation it wishes at the meeting wherein the amendment shall be voted upon.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of this executive council to publish a full record of amendments presented to it in The Collegian and on the College bulletin boards at least three days before the meeting of the association for the consideration of said amendment.

Sec. 4. A vote of two-thirds of the meeting assembled shall be necessary to pass an amendment.

BY-LAWS OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE A. S. S. M. C.

1. Active member defined. An active member is a registered student at the College who has paid the annual student fee, and is entitled to a student body card signed by the treasurer of the association that signifies payment. He is privileged to have a voice and a vote in the meetings and alone is qualified to receive the official award for extra-curricular activity, to nominate for student offices, and to hold office on the executive council and on the varsity, student affairs, and varsity committees and all other committees appointed during the scholastic year.

2. Ballots for elections; distribution of names. All candidates for office shall alternately occupy the first position on the ballot and as many types of ballots shall be printed as there are candidates for any single office.

3. Resolutions that passed approval of student body May 12, 1930: Resolved:

a. That the student fee for the scholastic year be fixed at one dollar.

b. That the executive council shall pass upon all bills presented to the association.

c. That at the beginning of the second quarter of the spring semester a budget committee of five shall be appointed from the members of the executive council, by the chairman of the council; said committee to prepare a budget and to determine the student fee for the ensuing school year.

d. That all funds be kept in the name of the Associated Students of Saint Mary's College.

e. That all vouchers drawn against such fund be signed both by the treasurer and the president of the association.

f. That all requisitions for the support of student activity and clubs should be signed both by the Faculty Moderator of the organization and the president of said organization.

4. Executive council meetings shall be held weekly thooughout the scholastic year, Wednesday at 12:55 in room 113 Dante Hall.

5. Rules and regulations governing intramural sports:

(1) All players participating in intramural sports do so at their own risk.

(2) The time agreed upon by the opposing team managers shall be the starting time of the game. An additional five minutes may be allowed either team by the intramural sports manager before the contest is forfeited. The decision of the intramural sports manager in all such matters shall be final.

(3) All protests shall be filed, either by word of mouth or by letter, by the protesting team manager to the intramural sports manager before the contest is decided. The intramural sports manager's decision shall be final.

(4) A team manager must be able to put a representative team on the field at the agreed starting time; two-thirds of the total number of players of a team will constitute a representative group.

(5) A team manager, with the consent of the opposing team can borrow, hire, or trade players not members of his section so as to be able to put a full team on the scene of battle. However, each team must abide by rule 4 of this section. Failure to abide by the rules means forfeit of the contest.

(6) There will be no official paraphernalia with the following exceptions: a. Rubber shoes must be worn on the basketball court; b. either swimming suits or trunks must be worn in all aquatic contests.

(7) It is the duty of each team manager to inform his squad of the rules under which the contest is to take place. No excuses for failure to so will be accepted.

(8) All players must furnish their own towels.

(9) No equipment is to be borrowed from the stock room.

(10) The intramural sports manager may add or detract any clauses from these rules for the purpose of making the contests of greater benefit and of more interest to all concerned.

(11) The intramural sports manager has the right to bar from participation in any contest, all those using unsportsmanlike tactics.

(12) The intramural sports manager shall furnish balls, whistles, horns, watches, and other articles of necessity.

THE STUDENT BODY ELECTION

Every year when the time for the student body election arrives, with it comes the accompanying undercurrent of destructive criticism directed against the candidates either personally or because of campus connections which they happen to possess. Most of the criticism is of the latter type, and on account of prejudices and petty clique organizations is condemned for the connection. Or it is a case of the boarders teaming up against the day-dodgers, one class against the other, or some such combination.

When the students embark upon such an undertaking as the selection of the officers in whose hands will rest for the greater part the success or failure of the next year's student activity, they should put aside predjudicial objections to this or that candidate who on his achievements is best suited to the office for which he is running. Petty personal and narrow dislikes have no place when trying to determine the best man.

In the campaign at hand, this criticism is far from lacking. On the contrary, it is hard to find the student who does not "fear" this or that candidate because he belongs to this or that club, because he goes around with these persons, or for some reason which is given much more prominence than it calls for. Equally as scarce is the student who bases his judgment of the candidate's qualifications on his past achievements instead of too trustingly upon his future promises. For the good of the student body next year, it would be advisable to think the situation over, placing emphasis where it belongs, even though we may not like doing so.

TOO MUCH CHOICE?

In a recent number of America, a writer comments upon the fact that democracy in education which allows the student too free a choice of the subjects he will take or not take is ruining it. He mentions in the course of his article that most of the studies proved worthwhile by traditional use have become elective at the desire of the student, and also most of the time they are not elected. Instead of the classics and traditional courses, social sciences and home economics have become required subjects. Cultural courses are being abandoned for the so-termed practical ones.

There are two sides to the question as he puts it. However, from all appearances both are wrong, one because it goes to one extreme, and the other because it represents the other extreme. Strict adherence to only classical subjects brings about the same unbalance that too close alliance to practical courses occasions; the via media which is a skillful mixing of both types of subjects is the ideal, and the school which most nearly approaches it is the more nearly perfect.

Here on the campus there has been discussion of late about requirements and electives. Some students deplore the fact that their curriculum calls for so many subjects that they consider practically worthless. Others believe that they are given too many subjects to choose from, and are not required to take subjects that would attend to rounding out their education. But upon inspection the required courses are reasonably those which do attend to broadening the student. The writer may have been right in saying there is too much choice in our modern college courses, but here the via media explained above has been sought and, the majority think, been more than averagely approximated.

PROHIBITION AND STUDENTS

One of the battle cries of prohibition proponents has been that American youth was saved from the great evils of drink and of the saloon. But a scientific survey of 25 per cent of the senior class of the University of Pennsylvania takes the wind out of the sails of that argument. The averages showed that two of every three co-eds and three out of every five men students indulge. However, the co-eds admitted that they drank only because of social reasons as a rule. But one of every five men was a steady drinker. Roadhouses and speakeasies are the supply centers.

PROFS MAKE NOVEL SLIDES

If professors at Boston University are seen walking about the campus slightly round-shouldered with eyes fixed on the ground it is only because they are searching for cigar wrappers and not for what is left of the cigars. They have found that they can make most satisfactory lantern slides out of the transparent wrappers, and thus make the slides at a cost of about one cent each instead of 50 cents which the old methods cost.

ANGRY RIVER FLOODS CAMPUS

"River Stay 'Way From My Door" was the theme song of Marshall College students as the Ohio River leaped its banks and flooded the campus. Co-eds enjoyed the adventure as brawny men students paddled them to classes in canoes and row boats and carried them across flooded streets. All those connected with the college were inoculated to prevent an outbreak of typhoid.

ONE STEIN: ALL'S FINE

Hurrah! Prominent faculty members of Columbia University have endorsed the foaming soap suds as likely to be beneficial to college students. One history instructor comments that "beer will do much to restore the former conviviality of college life, for conversation is always the better for a stein of beer. A philosophy professor said that the return of beer pretzels may mean a "poetic rennaissance." A French instructor claims that it will give the faculty and students a chance to get together socially which will lead to a more open and freer discussion of political and accademic questions. Quite true! Quite true! What student would object to a bull session with a prof if said prof has an ice cold supply at arm's reach, and he's willing to reach?

U.S.C. TO OPEN A JUNIOR COLLEGE

Announcement of a junior college to be opened next September at the University of Southern California has been made by Pres. Rufus von Klein-Smid. The J. C. will be entirely separate from the regular divisions of the university and will comprise a two-year curriculum of arts, letters and science courses. The university junior college students may transfer to the university at the completion of at least one year's work with a one point average.

COSTLY INITIATION

A student at the University of Oklahoma was forced to have both of his hands amputated as the result of an initiation prank of a local engineering fraternity. He was required to load and fire an old cannon on the campus The powder exploded prematurely and his hands were so badly manged that amputation was necessary. The fraternity is attempting to raise a four-year scholarship fund of $3,200 from its alumni and active members.

ONE ON SCHNOZZLE

Recent activities on the campus were so marked by allusions to "Schnozzle" Durante that we pass on the following yarn from the pages of the Fordham Ram. "If all the gags perpetrated on the forbidding dimensions of the Durante schnozzola were laid end to end they would just about cover said schnozzola. And that's a lot of gags! But here is the one that's making the rounds at present: Twenty flies were cavorting on the far-famed nasal appendage when a bee joined them. Needless to say, Durante immediately felt his presence. Whereupon Jimmy flared, 'There always has to be one wise guy in the crowd. Now you can all get off!'"

COLLEGIANS MEET G. B. SHAW

To George O'Connor, a sophomore at U.C.L.A., and his co-ed companion, went the honor of motoring George Bernard Shaw, beard and all, and his wife to Los Angeles after the plane in which the Shaws were traveling made a forced landing near Malibu Beach. O'Connor described the Irish wit as follows: "Shaw talked deep in his throat, rolling his 'r's,' and chuckled in his beard with a contagious sort of laughter after mentioning his experiences."

DEARTH OF GOOD SPEAKERS

One fact outside of the official business of the student meeting yesterday was brought out with almost startling prominence. With one exception the nomination speeches were poor not only in organization and content, but in spirit and delivery. The gusto that usually accompanies a political gathering was at a low ebb. Inattention even merited a rebuke from the president. That unspirited condition was reflected in the speakers.

Why such a situation should be present at this college is peculiarly puzzling. With the Sullivan Contest and the Cottle Oratorical Contest, with the extensive activity in debating which has been enjoyed this year, there is ample opportunity for the development of good public speakers here. Unless these contests are failing to bring forth competent speakers, they are hiding behind the scenes somewhere, and certainly not taking part in student body meetings.

If, however, they have failed to bring out good speakers the reason lies in the lack of support that such activities and contests derive from the students. They are there to make use of, with no strings attached to making use of them. What would the logical man say and do in such a case? Undoubtedly he would say "Use them."

CLEANLINESS IN CLOTHES

Observers have often voiced their opinions that Saint Mary's students go too shabbily attired on the campus, but lately reports state that common opinion in this regard has increased.

Undoubtedly this matter deserves some attention. We know that many are careless in their dress.

Oftentimes sweat shirts are worn in the classroom, and numerous are the corduroy trousers which are in dire need of soap and water.

That the student should parade around the campus attired in the latest styles is not the desire of those who have noted these shortcomings of dress, nor is the well-known "flower" the desirable type of student.

Clean clothes and sanitary bodies should characterize the personal appearance of those who pursue a Christian education, however, for not only is cleanliness a virtue next to godliness, but the outside observer finds less ground upon which to comment.

OUTLOOKS AND INSIGHTS

By BROTHER LEO

EPOCHS OF SCIENCE

Brother Leo

Mr. Ellison Hawks in his "Pioneers of Plant Study" quotes Pouchet to the effect that in the early history of science three ages are discernible: First, the period of observation among the Greeks as represented by Aristotle; secondly, the period of compilation as represented by Pliny among the Romans; thirdly, the period of experiment as represented in the Middle Ages by Roger Bacon and Albertus Magnus.

Students who take their history and science on the run sometimes get the impression that scientific studies in the Middle Ages were static and negligible. The more they know about the Franciscan, Roger Bacon, and the Dominican, St. Albert the Great, the more they will realize that mediaeval scientific studies were very often distinguished for the employment of what might be called modern methods. To read Father Schwertner's recent book on St. Albert the Great is to face the necessity of revamping one's ideas about the alleged conservatism of the schoolmen.

TOO CENTRIPETAL

The ideal life is a happy balance between repression and expression, selfishness and unselfishness, holding in and letting go. Few men realize the ideal. Many men do not even approximate to it. Therein lies one of the tragedies of human existence.

Some characters are too self-centered, others are not sufficiently so. In some men there is an unwise and imprudent generosity too much affected by the needs and opinions of those about them. Other men are excessively concerned with looking out for number one. They are too prone to ask on every occasion, "What is there in it for me?"

At different seasons in life a man leans, now too much in one direction, then in the other. Early middle age is usually characterized by an excess of the giving tendency, of the extravert attitude, of a noble but misproportioned altruism. Family, business and social life are three powerful influences working to take a man out of himself—sometimes too far.

Youth, on the contrary, is generally a period of excessive selfishness. This is particularly true of young men in college who develop an overabundant egotism and manifest little interest in anything that does not minister to their personal advantage here and now. Even though various college activities demand unselfishness and devotion from those who take part in them, it is nevertheless true that the general trend of college life fosters an excessive and stultifying egotism.

In plain English, a good many college men are shamelessly and disgustingly selfish. They refuse to take the other fellow's point of view. They are intolerant with the green and callow intolerance of youth. They are reluctant to sacrifice their own convenience for a person or a cause. They have forgotten the wise practice of the Boy Scout who does a good turn every day.

Their attitude is singularly short-sighted, in a sense suicidal. We might all profitably meditate upon that suggestive saying of Horace Mann: "Doing nothing for others is the undoing of ourselves." True wisdom seeks to establish the balance between giving and getting. The young man in college can hardly lean too far in the direction of giving. His age, his nature, his environment, all urge him the other way.

Moraga Musings

A college education teaches you so many things that you couldn't begin to mention them all . . . Not in polite society, anyhow . . .

Bicycle riding has attracted many Saint Mary's students who may be seen along the highways and byways of San Francisco and Oakland pedalling on week-ends . . . So far, the two wheeled vehicle has not invaded the Mesa of the Moragas! . . .

It is a three-ring circus, what with all these initiations . . . First the Block SM goes comic and then the APGU, also known as the brain trust, follows immediately with its initiation of new members who for three days carry the laurel branch in hand and tell all listeners that "When ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise." . . . The Econ Association will also take in newcomers . . .

Sign of the Times—In a history lecture recently, the instructor spoke of "trouble brewing" . . . To a man, the class muttered, "So is beer."

Smith, Jones and Brown are common American names that are not very common on this campus . . . There are two Smiths, one Jones, and three Browns registered here . . . The good old Irish name of Murphy formerly was owned by every other man . . . Only two answer to it now . . . There are one Burke, two Barrys, one Brennan, two Cassidys, one Curtin, one Duffy, one Gallagher, three Kellys, 15 Mac's, 11 O's and four Ryans . . . Write in your own moral . . .

You can walk up to 47 men on the campus at any time, slap them on the back and say "Hello, John" or "Hello, Jack" and not be wrong . . . 29 men answer to "Bill," while 26 will nod if you say "Hi, Jim."

Simile: Scorned as a second helping of fish (any fish).

MORAGA'S HALL OF FAME: Faculty Adviser Dick Bill, who isn't afraid to speak up in class . . . Tom Cara, who sports the slickest mustache . . . Ben Squires, the man from Sebastopol, who doesn't mind being called an apple-polisher . . . John Murphy, the senior leader, who is keeping pre-Commencement wrangling at a minimum . . . Ed Kelly, the man who sleep-walks in class . . . Leo Gambetta, the singing waiter of the dining hall . . . Rob't Franke, the Tammany political boss . . . Joe Nave, the North Beach boy who has gone Hollywood in attire . . . Gould, the brains of the football team . . . (see honor roll) . . .

What happened to the Campus Comment column? Maybe you've wondered, too. Well, it's this way . . . Staff members of this publication formerly wrote most of the letters to the correspondence section . . . When it was cited that this practice was intellectually dishonest, Campus Comment collapsed because the student body at large was too lazy to keep it moving.

THINGS YOU DIDN'T KNOW UNTIL NOW . . . "Brother Leo, well known Jesuit, will discuss 'Mental Metabolism' at an assembly Thursday . . ." says the Golden Gater, student publication of San Francisco State Teachers' College, in a recent issue.

They call them staid seniors because they've stayed around a long time.

When Bill Fischer played guard for Saint Mary's, he was known as "Wild Bill" and "Raw-Meat" & such . . . Today the former gridder is studying for a teacher's certificate at the University of California . . . Of all things, "Wild Bill" is student teaching in Home Economics, or how to cook and sew!
